PLANS TOLD FOR PEACE MEET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—UP—Abolition of the submarine, one of the deadliest and most effective weapons of modern warfare, is suggested in invitations to the proposed five power naval disarmament conference in January, which were studied today in the foreign offices of Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States.

The invitation, which was the outstanding feature of the invitation, which emphasized that it was the Kellogg peace pact which laid the groundwork for the present move to reduce still further the world's armaments.

The invitation assured the other three powers that preliminary negotiations between the United States and Great Britain "have now reached a stage at which it is possible to say that there is no point outstanding of such serious importance as to prevent an agreement."

The United States and Great Britain agree on these principles the invitation said.

The Kellogg peace pact is the starting point.

Parity in each of the several categories of naval vessels shall be reached by 1936.

Reduction of battleship replacement program scheduled to begin in 1931 under the Washington treaty of 1922.

Abolition of the submarine.

Previous Agreement

As regards the submarine proposal, the invitation pointed out that both the United States and Great Britain have publicly agreed to this heretofore, and therefore this matter hardly gave rise to discussion during the recent conversations.

The invitation emphasized that no final settlement on this point can be made until the conference.

The explanation was to make it clear that abolition of the submarine merely is a proposal for the conference to consider in order that it would not enter into acceptance of the invitation.

The invitation sets the third week in January for beginning of the conference. It also explains that Great Britain is willing to discuss with the various governments, between now and the time the conference convenes, any point upon which further information is desired.

CITY PROJECTS PUT BEFORE OFFICIALS OF U. S. BY CARLSON

T. M. Carlson, Richmond city attorney, returned home yesterday from the east where he represented the city of Richmond and the chamber of commerce in several contemplated projects in which Richmond is interested.

Although Carlson visited New York, Detroit, Chicago and Washington, D. C., on his eastern tour most of his time was spent in the national capital.

Probably the most important of his ventures was his appearance before the Interstate Commerce commission to aid in securing port to port rates for rail shippers from and to this city.

The Southern Pacific railroad company has asked for lower port to port rates for all cities on San Francisco bay with the exception of Richmond. Although the railroad is in favor of granting these rates to Richmond they are not putting up any special arguments to gain the rate here.

City Improvements

In his arguments before the Interstate Commerce commission Carlson referred to the large harbor building program undertaken by this city and that several steamship lines are making this city a port of call.

Richmond veterans have been making a spirited fight to have the new proposed government hospital located in Contra Costa county in the vicinity of Richmond.

PROFIT OR BUY US OUT KEY HEAD URGES

OAKLAND, Oct. 8.—There is but one solution to the transportation problem in this district, A. J. Lundburg, president of the Key System Transit company told the members of the League of California Municipalities yesterday.

Building permits totalling $20,275 were issued yesterday in the office of A. J. Hurley, building inspector. The total for the day is more than the entire month of September.

The two largest permits were for buildings which are being added to the business district of Richmond, and have been under consideration for some time.

The largest permit was issued to Burg Brothers for the construction of the new Chevrolet garage at Twenty-third and Barrett avenue. The structure, which is to be 50 by 150 feet will be built by Basil Spurr, general contractor, who has already started excavation work at the site. The permit was for $18,000.

Gas Companies War Over Walnut Creek

That the natural gas war between the Standard Oil company and the Pacific Gas and Electric company is on in earnest was indicated yesterday in a petition filed with the state railroad commission at San Francisco.

The Coast Counties Gas and Electric company—a subsidiary of the Standard Oil—put all rumors of peace between the two big corporations to flight when it charged in its document that the P. G. & E. was trying to invade its territory at Walnut Creek.

A certificate of public convenience and necessity to supply Walnut Creek with natural gas was asked by the Coast Counties company. The company declared that the city trustees will give them the franchise if its petition is awarded by the commission.

It was disclosed by the Coast Counties company that the P. G. & E. has also filed an application with the Walnut Creek trustees asking that it be given a franchise to supply the town. The trustees are anxious to get gas, "promised to give the franchise to the company that got the railroad commission's sanction, it was said."

The Walnut Creek territory is claimed by the Coast Counties company, which, it says, was so defined by the commission.

The Pacific Gas and Electric company's proposed natural gas line would be 12 miles from Walnut Creek, states the petition, while the Coast Counties line is close to the city.

Mayor Paulsen Aids Berlin Head Welcome

Burgohelster A. L. Paulsen of Richmond threw away a well-thumbed German-English dictionary last night when he returned from San Francisco after greeting Burgohelster-Gustav Boess of Berlin.

"I feel fellow speaks English better than a lot of so-called Americans I know," Mayor Paulsen said last night after discussing the welcome which was tendered to the highest official of the German city in San Francisco. Mayor Paulsen doesn't think much of the German word for mayor, however. He thinks he would rather be a mayor any day than a burgomeister.

The demonstration given Mayor Boess was one of the greatest welcomes extended to a German official since the war. The party in addition to Mayor Boess consisted of a number of other German officials, who are making a tour of this city.

The party plans to remain in the bay region until tomorrow morning, when they will leave for Los Angeles.

ANOTHER YOUTH REACHES FILM HEIGHTS

Youth, it would seem, is rapidly taking over the directorial and production reins of the motion picture industry. The latest youngster to firmly establish himself as a competent director is William Wyler, director of Universal's "The Shakedown" featuring James Murray and Barbara Kent, which will be shown at the Fox-California theater tomorrow only.

Wyler, the youngest director on the Universal lot and one of the youngest megaphone wielders in Hollywood, is offering his second important production, "The Shakedown." His first, "Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" met with such astounding success everywhere that Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, wisely gave Wyler another important assignment.

Prior to breaking into the feature field, Wyler served as assistant and finally as director on a series of two-reel westerns. Nobody at the studio paid much attention to him until the canny Carl Laemmle, who owned Wyler as the director of "Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" It was Wyler's opportunity and he made the most of it. Critics who have viewed "The Shakedown" at preview showings say that his second effort exceeds his first by far.

Wyler assembled an excellent cast for "The Shakedown." With James Murray and Barbara Kent in the leading roles, the cast includes George Kotsaroff, Wheeler Oakman, nine year old Jack Hanlon and Harry Oribbon.

Also on this bill is an all-talking comedy "The Barber's Daughter."

STAGE CAST IN 'MARY DUGAN' PICTURE

Four of the original stage cast of "The Trial of Mary Dugan" are in the all-talking picture version of the famous Bayard Carter murder drama which will close tonight at the Fox-California theater as a Metro Goldwyn Mayer 100 percent dialogue feature.

They are Raymond Hackett, who plays the part of the brother attorney; Myra Hampton, the hard-boiled chorus girl; Adrienne D'Ambricourt, the French maid, and Mary Doran, the Italian girl.

In the huge cast assembled by Vellier who personally directed the filmization of his play, are Norma Shearer who plays the title role, Lewis Stone, H. B. Warner, Lilyan Tashman, Mary Doran, Olive Tell, Dewitt Jones, Virginia North, Landers Stevens, Myra Hampton, Westcott Clark, Charles Moore, Claude Allister and others.

Also on this bill is a Mickey Mouse sound cartoon and a Fox News.

Local Red Cross Members Attend Regional Meet

Several members of the Richmond chapter of Red Cross attended the sessions and luncheon of the regional conference of Red Cross held yesterday at the Hotel Oakland.

F. F. Fiesler, vice chairman of the national Red Cross, was the speaker at the luncheon session.

Fiesler laid particular stress on the importance and growth of the work of the Red Cross during peace times. Last year the Red Cross responded to more than 100 disaster calls in various parts of the United States. He declared that the organization has done big work in first aid, life saving and home hygiene for which there has been given more than 2,000,000 certificates to persons who have completed the courses.

The National Broadcasting company will turn over at once and at any time their vast network of radio broadcasting stations to just two agencies, Fiesler declared. They are the president of the United States and the Red Cross.

At the morning and afternoon conferences of number of talks were given with reference to the various activities undertaken by the order. This covered public health, nursing, first aid and life saving, Junior Red Cross, problems of the ex-service man, membership and other features.

In view of the approaching fall call have considerable attention was given to the discussion on the subject by Miss Marianne Kne, assistant national director of red cross work.

Cooper Talks On Fire Prevention Before Lions Den

Methods of fire prevention were told yesterday by W. P. Cooper, fire chief of Richmond, in an address before the Lions club at the Carquinez hotel. His speech was given as a part of the national observance of Fire Prevention Week.

Attention was called by the chief to the tremendous savings in property losses brought about through the study and application of fire prevention methods in the United States.

Numbers were presented by the kitchen orchestra of Boy Scout troop No. 5, through the courtesy of Bob Cox, Scout executive. The boys appeared in blackface and interspersed haywire music from improvised kitchen instruments, with minstrel show jokes and songs.

The orchestra was under the supervision of William McCloskey and its members included James Mark, Clarence Vaughan, William Scarborough, Clyde Barnhardt, Halbert Glover, Tom Toyota, Albert Cannon and Irwin Ridley.

A committee was appointed by A. B. Hinkley, president of the club, to attend the meeting to be held in Martinez on Oct. 17, to reorganize the water barrier association. Those named to the committee which will also include the president, are Leo Maxwell, Fred S. Newson, Tom Cannon, Fred Caudie and Lewis Wilson.

'Stray Cats' To Be Presented Here Friday

Considerable comment is being caused by the Little Theater club's three act farce "Stray Cats" which will be presented at the Roosevelt auditorium Friday, as this is the first time that such an organization has been launched in Richmond.

To give the community a chance to see good plays at a nominal cost, the club plans to present at least two good plays each year.

According to the latest reports from A. L. Moore, business manager, a large audience is expected, and the cast, under the direction of Gervase Brown, is making every effort to make "Stray Cats" one of the best if not the best amateur play ever produced here. Prop and dress rehearsals were held last night and will be held again tonight.

Brown, formerly of Bakersfield, has been active in Little Theater productions here, and is very enthusiastic over the possibilities of this production.

Modern Mothers Help Create New Slogan

Millions More Each Year Turn To Famous External Method of Treating Colds

Each year more and more mothers turn to Vicks VapoRub, the modern external treatment for colds, because it is just rubbed on and cannot upset children's stomachs, as "coughing" is so apt to do.

Originally designed and first used largely for children's colds, this better external method gradually spread as one enthusiastic mother told another. Years of actual use also proved it equally effective for the colds of grown-ups. Today the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "coughing" and Vicks—a household word in America—is used in more than 60 countries abroad.

The ever-growing demand for Vicks is shown in its familiar slogan, expressing the number of jars used yearly. First announced when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Yearly" later raised to "21 Million"—the figures are again being changed, as there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

ORDER OF MARCH ANNOUNCED FOR HARBOR FETE PARADERS

This group will be headed by a big delegation from the California State Automobile association, all cars being specially decorated for the occasion.

The third division is to form at the Civic Center, and will be made up of fraternal organizations and miscellaneous groups not yet heard from.

The fourth division will gather at Twenty-fifth street, with industrial floats making up the bulk of the representation.

Private Automobiles
Private automobiles will assemble at Twenty-fourth street and will form the fifth division, falling in behind the others as the parade marches by.

This arrangement will start the parade from Twenty-third and Macdonald, it will proceed down Macdonald to Garrard and over to Standard and Washington street, then back to Cutting and along Cutting to Tenth, thence south to the inner harbor, arriving between 3:30 and 4 o'clock.

The arrival at that hour will give the mechanics an opportunity to view the speed boat races scheduled to begin at 4 o'clock, and to continue for an hour, without any important competing event on the program.

Business Club Entry
An important feature of the celebration will be the participation by the Business and Professional Women's club, which was formally decided upon at a meeting of the club last night and announced by Dr. Irene Jenkins, president. Mrs. Lillian Heady was named general chairman of the women's group. The club representatives will be in the parade in decorated cars, and upon arrival at the terminal will become hostesses, wearing badges which will give them official ranking.

At least 2,000 copies of an eight page program will be ready for distribution to all comers on the day of the celebration. The booklet has been published by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce and the Parry Terminal corporation. It carries the program of the day on the first page, and seven other pages, all illustrated, telling the story of Richmond and its development during the last three years. Fred D. Parr is distributing a large number to friends and business associates with his personal invitation to the celebration. The press of Oakland and San Francisco is giving space to the event, according to announcement by the chamber of commerce.

EHMKE HERO OF BASEBALL AS ATHLETICS TROUNCE CUBS IN FIRST GAME OF BIG CONTEST

WRIGHT FIELD, Chicago, Oct. 8.—(U.P.)—The aged but able arm of old Howard Ehmke waved the Philadelphia Athletics to victory and the Chicago Cubs to defeat today, in the opening game of the 1929 World Series before more than 50,000 fans in Wright field, the score being 3 to 1.

Some weeks ago when the American League champions set out on their last road trip of the season, Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, told them to go to Chicago for the series, and Howard Ehmke, pitcher, made plenty of trouble for the Cubs this afternoon.

Thirteen of the National League champions fanned before the elusive side arm, glow ball which Ehmke served them and it was a tremendous feat for the old pitcher. The Athletics pitcher lost the ninth inning, the Cubs probably would have not scored at all.

Fox's Home—Jimmy Fox, the Macken's versatile first baseman, started the scoring late in the game with a high and mighty home run into the center field bleachers. This blow broke the ice of what was a decidedly tight pitching battle between Ehmke and Charles Root, who started in the box for Chicago and did right well.

After Fox's homer in the seventh had put the Athletics one run out in front, and one run looked pretty big about that time—Joe McCarthy gambled on pinch hitters in the Cub's half, removing Root and Zack Taylor, his battery mate.

Add Two More—The pinch hitters failed to deliver, and in the ninth the Athletics added two more runs off Guy Bush, who went in for Root. Two successive and glaring errors by Woody English paved the way for what proved to be the decisive runs. Twice within two minutes the Cubs' shortstop, who had been figured as one of the most effective cogs in the Chicago defense, kicked the ball. Bing Miller punched out a single and two runs came romping home.

Before the ancient wizardry of Ehmke, the trouble-maker, the Cubs had no chance to score until the ninth. They got men on bases now and then but the old timer would wave that creaking soup-bone in his sidewise fashion, and the runners would go out in search of their gloves instead of straining to the plate.

Deserved Relief—Ehmke deserved a shutout, but his strike-out ball to halt pinch in the last of the ninth, the Cub's

H. M. Stearns On Deer Hunt

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stearns left last night for Oregon where they will spend two weeks deer hunting and visiting friends. Stearns is planning on doing most of his hunting around Grants Pass.

There was about as much baseball on today's game as is possible. The contest was replete with stirring field plays, great work by two pitchers and the home run element entered when Jimmy Fox put the A's in the lead in the seventh with a line drive into the left field bleachers.

Fate stepped in after it was just about all over, and deprived Ehmke of a merited shut out. Hack Wilson, enraged by a couple of strikeouts at the hands of Ehmke, leveled one off to start the Cub's half of the ninth and the ball nearly bored a hole right through Ehmke's mitt—selection.

Ehmke Game—Some of the gameness which carried him to victory through out the game, helped Howard out in the emergency. After stopping the ball with the pit of his stomach, Ehmke got up and got his man. His loss for Fox's retired.

The lumbering Wilson after which the veteran pitcher sat down and spent a few minutes catching his breath. The Athletics, trainer, bat only one out Joe McCarthy sent Cliff Heathcote in to bat for Zach Taylor. Heathcote's best was a short fly to Al Simmons, which gave even the fleet Kiki a chance to score after the catch.

There was nothing for it then but a pinch hitter for Root, Gabby Hartnett doing the honors and adding another counter to Ehmke's imposing list of strike outs.

Guy Bush who replaced Root, was not particularly effective although in young English had not taken it in his head to set up in the ninth the game might still be going.

Throws Too Fast—Cochrane, his usual vigorous and compelling self opened the Philadelphia half of the ninth with a single which Rogers Hornsby knocked down but could not handle. At Simmons rolled one down to English, but in his haste to get the ball away, Woody threw before he had it. This has been tried, but never successfully in many past World Series.

The first two Cub batters, singled in the seventh but Ehmke disposed of two pinch hitters, striking out Gabby Hartnett, and the seerion. Again he used his strike-out ball to halt pinch

HIGH ATHLETES PREPARING FOR LEAGUE

That Richmond Union high school's first season in the Alameda County Athletic Association will be a strenuous and difficult one was the forecast given yesterday by Ivan W. Hill, athletic coach at Richmond high.

Hill outlined the plans for next season, when Richmond will enter the league. The league track season will start Feb. 15, and baseball will commence March 1, tennis and swimming will occupy the remainder of the spring term. Hill read the constitution of the league at yesterday's meeting.

Suggestions were made by pupils to form a committee of athletic managers, who would take care of transportation of teams, keep the athletic field in playing condition, and general supervision of the athletic activities of Richmond high.

Century Club Beats Stars In Cage Game

The Century club basketball team defeated the Roger's All-stars by the close score of 15 to 10 in a game played in the Richmond Y. M. C. A. gym last night. The Century players were on the offensive during the greater part of the game.

The lineup of the Century team was: Collins, Olsht, forwards; Mac, Donald, center; Reid, running guard; and Schenck, standing guard. The Century substitutes were: Santella, Bertani and Transue.

El Cerrito Fire Department Ball Team Doubtful

Hopes that the El Cerrito firemen might organize a baseball team seem to be fading. The firemen have cherished the thought that they might some day be able to send a team on the field, but they are unable to arrange plans that will be convenient to the entire force. Among those who are interested in the formation of a baseball squad are Assistant Chief Tom Riley, Lieut. O. A. Burnett, Ed Baxter, O'Connell, and others who are handy with the glove and willow.

Harvard Fullback

WALLIE HARPER, fullback of the Harvard football squad, taking it on the run in practice. Eastern gridiron fans are watching Wallie closely.

HIGH GRIDDERS TO PLAY HOME CONTEST

The first home game of the Richmond Union high school gridriders will be played Friday when the local high school team meets Damon high school of San Francisco.

The Richmond men are planning to make a great attempt to gain their first victory of the season Friday. Consistently trailing by had luck, the locals have been buried by an avalanche of defeats. There are about a half dozen games still to be played, and the Richmond squad is determined to get a good taste of victory before the season is over.

Liquor Brings Divorce Suit

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER, famous major league ball player who is being sued for divorce by his wife on the charge that he drinks too much.

Junior High Net Games To Start Friday

The tennis teams of the Junior high schools of Richmond will open their fall season when Roosevelt and Longfellow Junior high schools meet Friday at the city hall courts. This contest will be the first of a three game series to be played during the term.

The Roosevelt team is considerably weakened by the graduation of Jimmy Hurley and Darrow Sutton, but Roosevelt still has a strong team. Carl leads the Roosevelt squad, Johnny Starke, David Robertson, and Edgar Faust also play singles for the team in the doubles, as do Starke, Roosevelt, Carl and Faust and Robertson.

Mythen, Legault, Garibotti and Hall perform in the singles for Longfellow. Mythen and Hall will pair up, but the other doubles are not yet certain.

Ehmke Breaks Series Record For Strikeouts

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (U.P.)—Howard Ehmke's feat of striking out 13 men today broke a record for strike-outs in a World Series game that has stood for 22 years. The Cubs were victims both of these times.

In 1906, pitching against the great Cub machine of Exeter, Tinker and Chance, big Ed Walsh of the Chicago White Sox, fanned 12—the one since then has equalled that mark.

MISSIONS WIN OPENER FROM HOLLYWOOD STARS IN LITTLE WORLD SERIES ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—UP Several got to him for successive singles to center, he faced the first bat of the split season, defeated the Hollywood Stars, second half winners 7 to 2 in the first clash of a four out of seven game series for the championship of the Pacific Coast League.

Dutch Ruether, "poison" all season-long to the Stars, won the game easily, although he did not strike out a single batter. The southpaw pitching ace of the Missions was particularly effective in the pinches, the splendid fielding support aiding him all the way through.

The Reds enjoyed two big innings in their romp through the first game of the little world series. Five hits in the third inning netted three runs, and the performance was repeated in the seventh inning.

Stars Lucky—Hollywood was just plain lucky to score a run each in the fourth and seventh innings. It was Ruether's fourth straight victory over Oscar Vitt's players. As in the previous three triumphs, he was completely master of the situation. The Dutchman subdued his opponents with a low ball and a curve, and probably didn't throw four fast balls during the game.

Vitt changed his mind at the last minute and sent "Lefty" Johns to the mound, after Holmerson had been slated to work. Johns, usually effective in Recreation park, was knocked out of the box in the seventh.

Hulvey was called on to replace Johns, and kept the Reds subdued and hitless for the remainder of the game.

Three runs in the fifth. As events proved later, the Missions won the game in the third inning, bunching five hits and scoring three runs after the second out. Johns held the Reds in the next three innings, but Killifer's athletic prowess, in another hitting rash in the seventh, and he was chased after Johns allowed five hits from which three runs were gleaned.

Funk started the fourth frame for the Stars with a double, a center. Severid followed with a single. While Rumler was forcing Hulvey at second, Funk scored for the first Hollywood tally.

The Stars scored their second run in the seventh. With one out, Mooney was walked, stopped at third on John's double to left, and tallied on Lee's infield out.

May Start Sunday—Ruether was at his best in the eighth. After Funk and Chicago White Sox, and Earl Webb, Angel outfielder, will go to the Cincinnati Nationals.

6 Coast Players Go To Big League—The major baseball leagues have made their annual raid on the Pacific Coast league, and have taken six men from the western league. Holli Thurston goes from the San Francisco Seals to the Brooklyn nine, Jack Sherlock migrates from first base on the Mission squad to the Philadelphia Nationals. George Smith, Seattle pitcher has been picked up by the Boston Americans. Red Rollings, Hollywood third baseman goes to the Boston Nationals. CITY OF RICHMOND

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Superintendent of Streets of the City of Richmond, County of Contra Costa, State of California, under and in accordance with the provisions of the Street Opening Act of 1907, and amendments thereto, has filed in the office of the undersigned clerk of the City of Richmond his assessment to pay the total expenses of the improvement and extension of Handle Boulevard as described in the ordinance of the City of Richmond, together with the diagram of the improvement and of the property within the assessment district attached to said assessment, and made a map thereof. All persons interested are hereby notified and required to file with the undersigned clerk of the City of Richmond, within thirty days after the date of the first publication of this notice, their objections, if any they have to the confirmation of said assessment. The date of the first publication of this notice is the 4th day of October, 1929.

Clerk of the City of Richmond
Paulsen Oct. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 1929.

First there had been the medical examiner called to establish beyond peradventure of a doubt that Phillips was dead, and had died by the hand of some person or persons unknown. And then there had been the elderly little woman with the piping voice who had witnessed the fight. Three of Joe's associates from QRSA had sworn that Joe and the manager had always appeared to be the best of friends. And finally there was Detective Lieutenant Ahlberg, who had testified about the events in the radio singer's home on the night when he had gone there to arrest him and looted his whereabouts by hearing him sing over the radio. Hundreds of people who had loved Joe's singing gathered outside of the grim old fashioned little courtroom hard by the Tombs Prison. They raised much emotion; chattered, shrieked, pushed and jostled each other. They tried to obtain entrance to the courtroom by each and any means. They fought for, begged and even bought seats. By the time the hearing was drawing to a close a seat was worth twenty-five dollars, and lines formed for them every morning hours before the time set for the opening of court.

Newspaper reporters, trailed by their copy boys, feature writers, cartoonists, hustled in and out of the room. Pompous court attendants rapped for order and assigned seats with jovial nonchalance.

At the counsel table Katherine dropped her head, quietly dabbing at her eyes with her handkerchief. It was all her fault, she reproached herself. If only she had kept quiet about Arthur Phillips' proposals to her, Joe would have been a free man instead of fighting for his liberty—perhaps for his very life. She had always played fair and square, and now what a strange twist of circumstances that this should be the outcome of it! A less scrupulous woman would have put Phillips off, managed to keep him dangling until Joe was so well established that he no longer needed the manager. Then she would have laughed him away. But Katherine had never been able to do things like that, and despite all that had happened she was glad.

"Had you and Mr. Phillips ever quarreled over money matters or business?" the magistrate was inquiring.

SAY IT WITH SONGS

A. R. LINE
de HAAS

Copyright, 1929, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
This novel is based on the Warner Bros. & Vitaphone picture starring Al Jolson; Darryl Francis Zanuck and Harvey Gates, Scenarioists.

KNOPSIS
Joe Phillips, ex-singer, now star songster of QRSA radio station, discovers that Arthur Phillips, his manager, is trying to take Katherine, Joe's wife, away from him. The two men fight. Joe leaves Phillips on the sidewalk, thinking he has only knocked him out for the moment, and goes on to the radio station to begin his song hour. At home Katherine and the baby, Little Pal, are listening in when a detecting arrival, searching for Joe, Phillips has struck his head in falling and Joe is wanted for murder. Katherine refuses to divulge her husband's whereabouts, but Little Pal, not understanding, calls out that his daddy is "singing over the radio."

Spectators brought lunches with them in order not to miss so much as a single word, no matter how inconsequential.

It was another seven day wonder—the killing of Arthur Phillips—and the public was determined to make the most of it.

Thus far things had gone rather well for Joe. Magistrate Simpkins seemed as sympathetic as it was possible for him to be and still maintain something approximating a judicial attitude. Nothing had been brought out to show that the song plunger had ever plotted to kill his manager and, though the fight itself had been proved, there was no evidence that it had been more than the result of one of those flashes of rage that come even to the sanest of men. No motive for murder had been hinted at, much less established. All the evidence pointed to an accidental killing.

Again and again the radio singer's lawyers had restrained him with difficulty from rushing to the witness stand to tell his story of the tragedy. But at last his chance came and the magistrate called him. He sent Katherine a smiling smile as he took the stand. He didn't want her to be upset any more than was necessary, but he noted that her face was very pale as she watched her arm about Little Pal's shoulders.

"I swear to tell a true and whole truth, swap yuh God!" The voice of the chief clerk was droning like a drowsy bee.

"I do," Joe's answer came clear as a bell.

There followed a series of routine questions about the defendant's age, occupation and family, and then the magistrate turned to him gravely.

"And do you recall the day you struck Mr. Phillips in self-defense?"

"Yes, sir."

"Had he attacked you in any way?"

"He had. He hit me with a wrench!"

A rustle passed through the courtroom. Joe's friends and admirers started to applaud. But a stern glance from the bench checked them. They had known it all along. Of course he must have struck in self-defense. They were certain that Joe Lane was not the sort of man who would have done anything else.

"What reason would the deceased have had for attacking you?" the magistrate continued.

Joe hesitated for just a moment and looked down at Katherine. He had wanted exactly to say what he was about to say, but his lawyers and Katherine had insisted that he must for the sake of all concerned. And Katherine was smiling at him bravely and brightly and nodding reassurance.

"He was interested in my business," Joe answered slowly.

The magistrate almost beamed, and this time the courtroom actually broke into handclapping.

"This is a hearing on a charge of murder," rapped out the judge, "and not a Broadway show. If there is any further demonstration, I shall instruct the court attendant to clear the courtroom and the remainder of the proceedings will be held in private!"

Court attendants darted about the aisles like ghostly beetles, upbraiding, knocking on seat backs and generally creating more disturbance than the spectators.

"And did Mrs. Lane, so far as you know, return this interest that you say Mr. Phillips had in her?" the magistrate continued, such a thing a dirty liar and I'd like to put his hands—

Gently the court clerk pushed the enraged song plunger back into the witness chair. Reporter's pencils raced as the magistrate spoke.

"Control yourself, Mr. Lane. These questions are a necessary and important part of the procedure by which the state makes certain that justice is done."

The judge bent over his desk, nodding to the stenographer. "Mr. Lane, answer to that question was 'No.' Strike out his remarks," he advised.

At the counsel table Katherine dropped her head, quietly dabbing at her eyes with her handkerchief. It was all her fault, she reproached herself. If only she had kept quiet about Arthur Phillips' proposals to her, Joe would have been a free man instead of fighting for his liberty—perhaps for his very life. She had always played fair and square, and now what a strange twist of circumstances that this should be the outcome of it! A less scrupulous woman would have put Phillips off, managed to keep him dangling until Joe was so well established that he no longer needed the manager. Then she would have laughed him away. But Katherine had never been able to do things like that, and despite all that had happened she was glad.

"Had you and Mr. Phillips ever quarreled over money matters or business?" the magistrate was inquiring.

CARLSON BACK FROM TRIP IN EAST

mond. A portion of the Fernandez estate in the Pinole valley was recommended by Carlson as a suitable site for this hospital. Carlson offered data to government officials showing that from a standpoint of climate and location the Fernandez site was ideal.

Air Base Site

Carlson obtained a promise from the War Department that an inspection would be made of the proposed site for the project of an air base site. This city is seeking to have the air base located in the cove on San Pablo Bay between Point San Pablo and Pinole.

Brig. Gen. W. E. Gilmore is to make the inspection of the proposed site here. Although the war department officials are reported to be looking with favor upon the proposed Alameda site, Congressman W. F. James of Michigan, chairman of the house committee on military affairs has refused to recommend the Alameda site. War department officials seemed to feel that the city of Richmond should offer to donate as much property as has been offered by Alameda. Alameda is said to have offered to donate 311 acres. Proximity of the Giant and Hercules Powder works were cited as an objection to the Richmond site.

Radio Station

Carlson also aided in securing the federal permit for the transfer of Radio Station KFWB from Oakland to Richmond. Transfer of this station to the Richmond site was started yesterday.

Discussions were also held with army and navy officials on the official permit for the projected bridge from Richmond to San Rafael. War department officials have approved the plans but navy officials are asking for a span 220 feet high. Those planning the bridge object to the higher spans contending that they will add materially to the cost of construction for the toll span.

Congressman Charles Curry and his son Forrest Curry aided him materially in his appearance before the various government bodies, Carlson stated yesterday.

Discussion was also held with Congressman Curry and Senator Hiram W. Johnson on the proposed salt water barrier across the upper section of San Francisco Bay. An organization to push the fight for this project is now being formed and the two representatives from this district displayed a keen interest in the proposed improvement.

Maintenance of the same fast Southern Pacific local service to Sacramento via Benicia, and routing of Overland and Shasta route trains to the east and north via Stockton, following interruption of train ferry service between Port Costa and Benicia, was announced yesterday by the company without curtailment of schedules.

With the steamer Solano temporarily out of commission because of mechanical trouble, the company substituted a passenger ferryboat on the trip across Carquinez straits and travelers were transferred from train to train on the local run to Sacramento.

It is expected that repairs to the train ferry Solano will be completed within a month and until the boat returns to service, the company will continue its present emergency handling of traffic with no delay to Sacramento passengers, it was stated.

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.25 to Buy Your Home of Moths May Save Your Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

SPEEDER FINDS HUNGER COSTLY

What price hunger? The answer as given by C. A. Odell, police judge of Richmond, to V. Cuneo of San Francisco, who was rambling along at 55 miles an hour on the San Pablo highway, is $30 and revocation of his drivers license for 30 days. Cuneo was hungry. There could be no doubt about that. So he hurried to get to Vallejo so that he might eat.

"No there isn't any fire," he told officers of the law who made the arrest, "nor is my wife ill, nor have I an important business engagement. The fact of the matter is that I am hungry."

WITNESS HITS DEFENSE OF PANTAGES

up the stairs to the mezzanine floor.

"There I saw the hands of a girl extending through the partially opened door of the little room and heard her scream again. She cried 'help! help! save me! he is ruining me!'"

Girl hysterical

"Eunice Pringle ran out of the little room when William Gordon, state's witness, pushed the door open. She stumbled twice and collapsed into the arms of a man I now know to be W. C. Hale. She was dishevelled, sobbing and very hysterical.

"When I turned around I saw a slim young man whom I do not know force his way into the room. He took Mr. Pantages under the arms and lifted him from the floor, then slammed the door. When it was opened again, I saw Pantages stuffing his shirt tail into his trousers and adjusting his suspenders.

"The tall man moved Pantages into the hallway. I spoke 'at' Pantages as they passed."

Remark Ruled Out

The defense had Wise's remark ruled out as a vile epithet. Wise said he followed the two men to the second floor, where the main theater offices are located, but then returned to the floor below and, putting his arm about Miss Pringle, took her upstairs.

"She pointed to Pantages and screamed: 'there is the beast, the brute, don't let him get away!'"

"Pantages excitedly shouted, 'shut up, be quiet,' and mopped his forehead with a handkerchief repeatedly. He said it was a frameup and blackmail and that the girl had come to him a number of times.

The girl became hysterical and cried: 'don't let him talk like that; don't let him near me.' I was forced to take her out of the room and to a couch where she rested, until police arrived and made the arrest."
